Mr. Howard, from the special committee of seven on the impeachment, reported a series of rules for the conduct of the approaching im-peachment tried, and in reply to a query from Mr. Summer, stated that he proposed to call them up to-morrow.

Mr. Wilson introduced a bill to incorporate the National Society for the Prevention of Granity to Animals. Referred to the Commit-tee on the District of Golumbia.

On motion of Mr. Edmunds, the bill directing

The amendment was adopted by a vote of 29 to 13.

Mr. Trumbull said some $34,000,000 has been received from the proceeds of this property, but through one process and another it bad dwindled down to $24,000,000.

Mr. Fessonden could not understand how, after the exceedingly bitter attacks of the Senator [Mr. Trumbull] on the Secretary, he could consisted with such a beautiful simile of good will and axpression. If the Senator entertained no hostility against the man whose acts he had criticised as severely, God save him (Mr. Fessonden) from ever incurring the Senator's heatifity. Mr. F. then defended the action of the Secretary in the matter, and repeated that Mr. McCulosch had only done what he (Mr. F.) and Mr. Chaes had done before him. He (Mr. F.) was conscious that he had done right, and he neither feared or cared for the cessure of the Senator from Illinois. He was ready to meet any censure that might be put upon him by Congress. Mr. Fessonden continued at length.

The matter was forther debuted by Senators regets.

The matter was further debated by Senators frumbull and Edmunds.

asked that his credentials be taken from the able and he assurent.

The Unit. The Senator will come lorward and take the oath, Mr. McCreery then advanced to the Secretary's desk, accompanied by Mr. Davis, and tary's desk, accompanied by Mr. Davis, and was sworp in.

The consideration of the West Point appropriation bill was then resumed.

An aspendpunt was adopted restricting the number of visitors to the Academy to seven. The bill was discussed at length by Senators Thayer, Johanon, Wilson, Grimes, Hendricks, Chandler and Cameron, and without action on the bill the Sanate went into executive ression, and after some time spant therein adjourned.
